BRITAIN PAYING RESPECTS TO "JACK"
DAILY MAIL LAUDS AMERICAN ARMY

LONDON, July 16.—General Pershing is today the honor guest of Great Britain. This afternoon he will be presented to the nobility of England by Ambassador Davis and tonight a dinner will be given at the Carlton Hotel.

The Daily Mail in commenting on the visit of General Pershing to England paid this tribute to America: "We do not forget what we owe General Pershing, his country or his valiant men. In the dark days when the Hun hordes were sweeping towards the Marne, it was General Pershing who said 'here are our men, trained and untrained, use them'."

ALLIED OFFENSIVE AGAINST THE
BOLSHEVIK IN VIENNA FORECAST

PARIS, July 16.—The probability of an Allied offensive against the Bolsheviki front lines in Austria Hungary looms large. From dispatches filed at Vienna it is learned that the Bolsheviki plan to reclaim a soviet republic with Vienna as the capital. The proclamation is scheduled to appear on July 21st.

Vienna has become a Bolsheviki stronghold, at least it is the headquarters of the leaders who for many months have realized the supreme strategical position of the former capital of Austria and saw that a strong entrenchment there would enable them to reach out and stifle the whole of Central Europe.

KAISERIN VERY ILL

BERLIN, July 16.—A dispatch from Ameringen, Holland, stated today that the Kaiserin was very ill suffering with heart trouble. A doctor was in attendance throughout the night.

SENATE COMMITTEE
IN FIRST CLASH ON
WILSON STATUS

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Upon the question of the right of the President to keep locked within his own mind all the secret history of the conference has arisen the first clash between the administration and the Senate Foreign Relations committee over the treaty of peace.

A majority of the committee today demanded all the information in the President's possession about these three subjects:

1.—Why was the award of the Chantung peninsula to Japan made and is it true that Secretary Lansing, General Bliss and Henry White protest on the act of the American delegation at Paris against it?

2.—Is it true that Japan entered into a secret treaty with Germany for partition of Prussia and what were the real relations between Japan and Germany during the war?

3.—Why is Nicaragua permitted to invade Costa Rica and why was Costa Rica not permitted to sign the peace treaty at Versailles.

The committee has under consideration a resolution by Senator Johnson demanding the full stenographic record of the meeting of the Big Five and the other commissioners at which the League of Nations was considered and agreed upon. This resolution probably will be adopted by the committee tomorrow.

The controversy over the right of secrecy consumed practically all of the time of the committee when it assembled this morning for the first session on the treaty. Administration Senators stubbornly oppose all the attempts made by the Republican majority to have the veil of secrecy lifted so that the committee might know the inside history of all the peace conference transactions.

The position taken by the Democratic members is that the committee has no right to inquire into any of the reasons which led to the adoption of specific provisions in the treaty. It contends that such information is the possession of the President is confidential and should not be inquired into.

The Republicans contend that the President went to Paris as a delegate from the United States to the conference and that the foreign relations committee is not bound to respect any confidence that may exist between him and other parties. They assert the constitutional right of the committee to inquire into the reason for any provision in the treaty regarding which they may desire information.

The majority members of the committee emphasize their belief in the soundness of their belief by passing the LaFollette resolution regarding Costa Rica, the Lodge resolution asking for the truth about the alleged protest of three members of the American peace delegation against the Chantung decision. The vote on the Borah resolution was 11 to 4, and on the Lodge resolution 13 to 2. Senator Hitchcock, leader of the administration fight for the league, voting "no."

Senator Johnson commented upon the situation in the committee in the following language:

"There is a fundamental difference between the Democrats and the Republicans on the committee. The Democrats take the position that anything that transpires at the conference leading up to the adoption of the treaty is confidential, and that the President should not be asked to tell about it. A majority of the committee declares that there can be no question of confidence between the President and the committee that the President went to Paris merely as our commissioner, and that the committee has the constitutional right to know everything that went on there between him and the commissioners."

YANK WON THIS CONTEST SURE

(By United Press.)
PARIS. (By Mail).—Just who won the war is still a live question of debate, but there is no argument as to which nation's warriors came off best in matrimonial contests in France. The Yanks won.

A typical example of how completely the American doughboys in France outclassed their British, Belgian and other rivals is furnished by the marriage bureau of La Rochelle, a small seaport town on the coast between Bordeaux and St. Nazaire.

The Americans started with a severe handicap. The other Allies had had three years and more to entice away the girls of La Rochelle before the doughboys had even learned to say "Bon jour."

But the figures tell best the story of ultimate triumph. A total of sixty-three girls of the seaport town married foreign soldiers during the war. Twenty-three of them were won by Americans. Belgium came in second best, carrying off nineteen brides.

Other armies were represented in the following proportions: Italians five; English, three; Swiss, three; Russians, three; Spanish, two; Danes, one; Poland, Greece, Cuba and Turkey each scored one.

Throughout France the story of La Rochelle was repeated.

ANOTHER SMART DUBOIS
CITIZEN

A woman named Hattie Shannon, of DuBois, who has been making periodical visits to Mill Hall treating individuals who are ill was placed under arrest Monday evening at Mill Hall by Constable W. W. Pettigill, on a warrant issued by Alderman John P. Anthony on information made June 20 by Drs. S. J. McGhee, A. B. Painter, C. B. Kirk, and F. P. Ball, members of the Clinton county medical association, charging her with practicing medicine and diagnosing cases at different times within the past two years without a license and without being lawfully qualified.

The accused woman, who was accompanied by her husband, was taken before Alderman Anthony, where she gave bail in the sum of $500 for her appearance at court. She at first declined to give bail, even though her bondsman was present, but on the way to jail in charge of the constable she changed her mind and hence will be free until the hearing on July 25 and thereafter until the case is heard in court.

District Attorney H. T. Hall represented the commonwealth and the defendant has retained B. F. Geary to defend her.

It is said Mrs. Shannon had built up quite a practice as a result of her visits to Mill Hall, patients coming to her from different sections of Nittany valley, as well as from Lock Haven.

Miss Frances Rishel returned to her home in Railroad, York county, after visiting a few days with the W. E. Davis family at the County farm.

SECOND STREET
REPAVING UNDERWAY

The work incident to the repaving of South Second street is progressing rapidly. The old brick have been removed from the Point to Ogden avenue and the street between those two points will be ready for the concrete base just as soon as the material for same arrives.

More than fifty per cent of the old brick taken up will be utilized for gutter paving on side hill streets, while above Ogden avenue to Spruce street many of the bricks to be taken up will be replaced in the paving, as they are in very good shape. It is estimated that not more than 30,000 new brick will be required on this street and as the Highway Department has some 58,000 brick on hand which were bought in 1916 at the price then prevailing, considerable of a saving will be made on brick.

Cement is about 35 cents per barrel dearer now than in 1916 and stone is also about 50 cents per ton higher in price. Labor has also advanced 50 cents per day.

The Highway Department expects to have the street open for traffic before October 1st.

EVERY CITIZEN
SHOULD SIGN
PETITION

No Good Reason For Further Delay In Improving The Third Street Paving

UNITED ACTION IS NEEDED

A petition is in circulation about town which every Clearfielder should sign. This petition asks the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to do something toward improving the deplorable condition of Third street. The Pennsy track occupies the center of this street with the paved driveway of the street on the east side of the track. This street or driveway is entirely too narrow for the immense traffic on Third street and it has got to such a point that it is dangerous to even attempt to negotiate the street.

Some time ago a request was made of the Pennsylvania officials to have the space between their tracks paved but action on the matter was avoided by the company on account of wartime conditions.

The necessity for relief grows more apparent and necessary daily and as the war is now at an end a movement has been inaugurated which seeks to have the improvement made now.

The Highway Department of Council is already at work on the proposition and have arranged for a meeting with the Division Engineer of the Pennsy here in Clearfield within the next few days and the petition mentioned is being circulated for the purpose of showing the unanimity of our people in asking for immediate relief of present conditions.

Now is the time to get busy on this proposition and no let up should occur until the street is placed in the condition it should be in.

WILSON WILL INVITE REPUBLICAN
SENATORS TO THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON D. C., July 16.—President Wilson yesterday invited a number of Republican senators to confer with him in regard to the ratification of the peace treaty and the League of Nations covenant, as was stated at the White House. Invitations to fifteen senators will go out at once. This course is in line with the president's stated policy of putting himself in close touch with the senate members all through the consideration of the treaty.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—An armistice prevailed today in the Senate over the prohibition question.

Senator Hitchcock was prevented yesterday from seeing the President but will make an effort to have a conference with him this afternoon.

The Shantung settlement has proved to be a weak spot in the administration program but administration senators believe that it will not interfere with the ratification of the covenant. They point out that Japan would consider it a serious affront if the U. S. does not approve of the settlement.

U. S. DISTRICT ATTORNEY PLANS TO ARREST ALL VIOLATORS OF DRY LAW

PITTSBURGH, July 16.—Arrest and prosecution of every retail and wholesale liquor dealer in Pittsburgh who has been selling liquor containing more than one half of one per cent. alcohol is forecast in a statement issued today by U. S. District Attorney Crawford of Pittsburgh. The government stand was taken immediately after it became known that Judge Thompson had overruled the demurrer filed by the Pittsburgh brewers.

R. B. Chapin head of the Internal Revenue office stated that he was ready to cause arrests the moment that the official notice of the action of the court reached his office.

Pittsburgh saloons are selling near beer today.

FORTY MILLION CHINESE TRADED FOR
JAPS SIGNATURE TO PEACE TREATY

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Sensational disclosures of the reputed reason why 40,000,000 Chinese people in Chantung were bartered off at the peace conference to Japan in return for Japan's vote for the League of Nations startled the senate today.

It was openly charged by opponents of the league and admitted by supporters of the President that President Wilson agreed to give the Chinese province to Japan as the price of Japan's support of the league.

The President was helpless, it was stated, was obliged against his will to accede to Japan's demands which was buttressed with the secret treaty made by Japan with England and France. The alternative would have been separate peace between Japan and Germany and Japan's staying out of the league.

"What is the senate going to do about it?" was the challenge flung to the Republican charge after this explanation.

The senate's answer may be a resolution dissolving that section of the treaty and withholding approval of the Chantung award. Senator Norris of Nebraska, will offer such a resolution when the treaty comes before the Senate.

The admission that the President did not approve of the Chantung decision until he was forced into acceptance of it, came as a surprise to the senate. It was made by Senator John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi in the midst of a furious debate on the resolution by Senator Norris demanding that the facts in the possession of the state department respecting the alleged secret treaty between Japan and Germany and all information regarding alleged secret negotiations between those two nations while the war is on.

The resolution, called up by Senator Lodge late in the afternoon, was finally adopted by unanimous vote, but before the vote was taken there was one of the most exciting debates to which the senate has listened since the discussion of the treaty began. Charges flew thick and fast as senator after senator arose to add his word of condemnation of the Chantung award and the whole conduct of the peace conference to Japan.

Throughout the debate the anti-Japanese tone was particularly violent. The award of the Chantung territory was denounced as the virtual enslavement of its millions of inhabitants. It was declared that Japan's promise to give the territory back would mean nothing because "Japan has never kept any promise she made." It was asserted that the decision meant the eventual dismemberment of China in Japan's favor and that the immediate advantage to Japan was control of the three big ways to China.

The dominance given Japan by her control of Chinese territory was referred to and it was stated that the decision would greatly strengthen the power of Japan's rising power in the east.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, threw a bombshell into the debate by asserting that it would be better for the United States to go to war with Japan than to give assistance to the theft of territory and the enslavement of the Chinese millions.

If the time ever comes when we must choose between aiding in the enslavement of millions of the human race, the dismemberment of a free Republic, the partition of the territory of one of the best friends this nation has ever had, or face the challenge of another power, we will face that other power.

"I have no fear that any action taken by this senate may take mean war with Japan. But there is one thing certain and that is the people of the United States will never consent when the facts are known to the enslavement of millions of people with our help and assistance. The American people will refuse to cut up China. I have no thought of a war with Japan, but if we must face that issue rather than consent to this treatment of millions of free people, then we may as well have it now as some time in the future."

Senator Lodge warned the senate against agreeing to the award to Japan and declared that there will be "an opportunity in the senate for those who oppose it to vote against it."

BRITISH AIRCRAFT LOST
LONDON, July 16.—Search is now being made for some trace of the British dirigible NT-11 which is lost somewhere over the North Sea. It is believed that she was struck by lightning and exploded. About twenty men compose the crew. The NT-11 held the long distance air record before the R-34 made her trip to America. The NT-11 had made a continuous flight of 104 hours.

Editor Bill Ross, of the DuBois Courier, takes deep offense at our characterization of all DuBois people as being "some smart and sassy," so in order to relieve Bill's feelings we are going to go fifty-fifty with him. He's only sassy.

JONES VOTED THE WISH OF HIS CONSTITUENTS

Hon. Evan J. Jones, who represents this county in the national House of Representatives, went to congress with an ambition to get on the House Agricultural Committee and his fondest hopes were realized. Although a new member he was selected for a seat on this all important committee. Congressman Jones was heart and soul interested in the progress of agriculture for his district and for the nation at large and worked indefatigably for a larger appropriation for the Department of Agriculture. It was with no little regret that he saw the President veto this important measure and by his veto hold up the work outlined by the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Jones knows through his experience and thru being in close touch with the farming industry that the so-called daylight saving law works to the disadvantage of the farmer in many ways so it was not surprising to find that he was among the faithful few who voted to override the veto of the President and thereby get a useless law off our books and at the same time start the machinery of our federal department of agriculture in motion. Those interested in agriculture will not forget how Congressman Jones voted on this issue.

WHO DID THE DYNAMITING?

The associate editor of the Philipsburg Journal takes exception to the privilege of The Progress to tell all the circumstances and reflect popular and general opinion on the causes leading up to the Janesville dynamiting. If this outrage and that at Winburne were not the work of an organization, or the work of an individual member of the Bolsheviks it was most certainly the work of one having strong leanings in that direction. In both instances there was a ruthless disregard for human life; a strong possibility of the murder of little children and a desire to wreck and destroy valuable property. That is Bolshevik principle exactly. If the Journal has any better theory in the face of these facts let him trot it out. There was no implication that the U. M. W. of A. or the Socialist party had anything to do with these outrages but there is a strong possibility that, in the Janesville case, the deed grew out of the labor dispute and in giving the history of the case it was necessary to give names. The Progress is not given to refraining from publishing names simply to keep from tramping on the toes of the thin skinned.

HUSBAND'S POLITICS TO HAVE NO INFLUENCE

Will wives vote as their husbands vote? Not unless the husband votes the right way, and as an instance of how wives and husbands can agree, amicably, to disagree, Mrs. Frank P. Hays, of St. Louis, Missouri, has decided to ally herself with the Republican party, while her husband is a Democrat.

Her friends, knowing that she had long conducted the News Letter a nonpartisan publication in the interests of the suffrage cause, were surprised to find that, relieved of her work, she has come out as a Republican, anxious to do all she can to help the party.

But in answer to an inquiry Mrs. Hays says that she has not been "converted" to the Republican party, that she has always been a Republican. Neither is she interested in that party because of her son-in-law Forest Donnell, law partner of Senator Sponder, the Republican United States Senator from Missouri.

She was a Republican before he was born!

Mrs. Hays has been prominent as a club woman, as a war worker, as a philanthropist, and is even a member of the Board of the Woman's Labor Union as she is very much in sympathy with the wage earner. Having opinions on all these varied interests, what more natural than that she should have political opinions as well? She has—strong ones. She feels that she has the right to vote as she pleases, and her husband agrees with her perfectly.

AUDITOR GENERAL SNYDER ON TAXES PAID TO STATE

Prepared for the Bulletin by the

Auditor Gen. Hon. Charles A. Snyder

In the matter of the revenues of the State of Pennsylvania it should be borne in mind that since the passage of the Act of 1913 the State receives no tax whatever from personal property. Its revenues are in effect derived entirely from its taxes on corporations and on corporate obligations. Aside from the sums which are collected for licenses write, collateral inheritance, direct inheritance, automobiles and foreign insurance premiums the entire revenue is that which is derived from the tax on the Capital Stock on corporations, corporate loans, gross receipts, gross premiums and banks and trust companies.

Under our several Acts of Assembly corporations pay a tax of 5 mills upon the value of the Capital Stock as fixed by the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth. Also a tax of 4 mills upon the bonds scrip, certificates and evidences of indebtedness issued by corporations. Also a tax of eight-tenths of one per cent upon the gross receipts of all railroads, pipe lines, street passenger railways, etc., derived from transportation of freight or passengers or oil; and upon the gross receipts of all railroads, pipe lines, street passenger railways, etc., derived from the transportation of freight or passengers or oil; and upon the gross receipts from the business of every telephone or telegraph company, express company, electric light company, etc. Also a tax of eight-tenths of one per cent on the gross premiums of all insurance companies.

Pennsylvania differs in the method of her collection of revenues and system of taxation from any other state in the union, and as a matter of fact is the only state which collects no personal property tax.

The fact should also be borne in mind that under our laws manufacturing corporations are "entirely exempt from taxation." That is no part of their Capital Stock bears any part of the State tax if it is entirely employed in manufacturing. In this respect we also differ from every other state in the Union with the exception of California, Delaware, Connecticut and West Virginia. In the formation of our tax laws it has always been borne in mind that the State should encourage the location within her bounds of all manufacturing corporations, recognizing the fact that they brought to us increased and added wealth in many ways. The principle of relieving them from taxation was that of encouraging and fostering their development.

Under the now existing tax laws, and by a businesslike and proper administration and application of the same, there has been collected during the last fiscal year of his predecessor Auditor General's administration the sum of $44,166,368.74 as against a collection of $31,700,489.35 during the previous fiscal year, making a net increase of $12,464,793.39. Total payments of $42,407,064.30 have been made as against $29,360,493.19 during the last fiscal year of his predecessor with a balance in the treasury at the end of the fiscal year of $9,888,988.55.

In no one year has ever such a large amount of revenue been collected. This was accomplished without the help of any additional revenue measures, excepting that which came from the operation of the direct inheritance tax act of 1917 under which was collected the sum of $2,643,462.13.

The Auditor General is confident that with a systematic and proper application of the laws now existing and with the appropriation of sufficient sums to the department to permit of the systematic and scientific application of the laws and facilities for the collecting of the state's taxes and revenues, the collections for the coming year will not only be equal to that of the last fiscal year but will exceed same to some considerable extent. He is assured that the present laws provide ample means for all the state's present purposes and it has been his conscientious endeavor from the time he assumed office to see that the powers and duties of his department are properly and equitably applied and that the taxes due the state are not only properly levied and assessed, but also immediately collected. He found upon entering office about $12,000,000 of delinquent taxes and immediately put in operation a system for the collection of same. During his first year we succeeded in collecting $1,500,000 of these delinquent taxes, and did this at a surprisingly nominal expense to the Commonwealth. He also found hundreds of cases in which the corporations had appealed from the tax settlements made by the fiscal officers. These have been adjusted, with the exception of a very few, either by composition or by final adjudication had in the Court of Dauphin county.

As above stated these revenues of the Commonwealth have all been collected without the imposition of any tax whatever upon the manufacturing corporations of the state and the Auditor General feels confident that the necessary revenues can continue to be provided under the present laws without any recourse to a tax on our manufacturing industries.

CARNIVAL ROMANCE CULMINATES IN WEDDING

Oscar Halverson, of Ashland, Wisconsin, and Miss Ethel Stine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Stine, were united in marriage at the Stine home on Fourth street at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve, of the First Presbyterian church, in the presence of the family and immediate friends of the contracting parties.

The wedding is the culmination of a romance which had its inception carnival week last year. Mr. Halverson was in charge of the Ferris wheel and merry-go-round with the Dorman & Crouse show last year and at that time first met his bride of today. It was a case of love at first sight and the young couple carried on a correspondence since that time. Mr. Halverson returned to Clearfield last week with the Rubin & Cherry shows with his riding devices, the question was popped and this afternoon's wedding was the result.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stine and her many Clearfield friends extend warmest congratulations.

Sage Tea Keeps Your Hair Dark

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhance its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

RUSSIA AND HER BORDER STATES

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 16.—"Let the border states decide what government they want by means of plebiscites." That is the proposal the bolsheviks make regarding the small nations surrounding soviet Russia. Contrary to their policy in force now of dictating from Moscow the bolshevik foreign office recommends a "decentralized government" for the country. The chief bolsheviks hope for a confederation of communitistic Russian states.

The bolsheviks are unwilling to withdraw the Red armies, however, until a plebiscite is taken in the border states. The Whites (anti-bolsheviks) cling to the same policy.

However, the bolsheviks are encouraging development of separate governments for Letland, Ukraina, and other border provinces under their control. Under the sponsorship of Moscow, which has sent out emissaries to guide the builders of new governments, Red Letland and Red Ukraina are becoming more bolshevik than the bolsheviks themselves.

The saddest situation is that of the border peoples half under the Reds and half under the Whites. Lithuania is a typical example. The Lithuanians claim they are a distinct nation, different entirely from the Russians. Many Lithuanians want to be independent. Still others think the little country should be attached to a great power. The majority of the Lithuanian people, exploited by the old regime have no concern beyond bread and butter.

At present a large part of Lithuania is held by anti-bolshevik forces, most of whom are German and Polish. The Lithuanians have a small army which is sandwiched in between the German units. It is commanded by a Russian general from the Crimea. A sort of half-organized half-representative government rules on the anti-bolshevik side of the line. Germans are financing the new country at a great profit. Food conditions are improving, with food from America. Conditions of living are filthy and almost unhuman. The Lithuanians claim their chief city is Wilna. Wilna has been but recently taken from the bolsheviks by the Poles, who claim that Wilna is Polish. They say they are going to keep the city.

The only educated people in Lithuania are the owners of the estates, who naturally are anti-bolshevik. They keep the peasants in a condition not very much advanced from benevolent feudalism.

Lithuania is only one of more than a dozen little states bordering on Russia proper. The adjacent powers are eager for them and the bolsheviks refuse to give up claim to them without plebiscites. North of Lithuania is Courland and Esthonia, both of them more or less under the influence of the Germans. Those countries are almost as ignorant and poor in life as Lithuania. Both Esthonia and Courland are maintaining armies to fight the bolsheviks, with German help. The English fleet and marines are helping the Esthonians, who are now threatening Petrograd. Oddly, the English are in reality allied with German troops against the bolsheviks here.

The border provinces are harboring thousands of bourgeois from soviet Russia, refugees who fled from the bolsheviks. These people are actively propagandizing against the bolsheviks.

Most promising of the border states is Finland. The Finns are a race quite different from the Russians. This is evident by the contrast noticeable soon as one enters their country from Russia. Towns in Finland are cleaner, the railroads and stations are modern and comfortable, the cities are gems compared to Russian cities. Finland is rich in forest and minerals. The Finns had a considerable degree of self-government before the revolution and developed in their own way. Their schools made the percentage of illiterates lower than any other country in Europe. Finland leans toward Scandinavia in sympathy. Since the armistice, Finland has been independent, governed by the Russian General Mannerheim, with a provisional assembly or Diet. Finland's independence, has been recognized by the bolsheviks in Moscow. However, relations are still strained and the Finns are prepared for war with Russia any time. The border is closed tight.

In the south, where the Ukraine is divided, and all along the eastern bolshevik border peoples are declaring themselves nations. At present most of them are pawns of the armies which sweep back and forth, both sides impoverishing the natives. Deciding the fates of these upstart nations will be a generation's problem.

BIG TENT SHOW OPENS JULY 29TH

The various committees in charge of the local Chautauqua which will open on July 29th are zealously working to get their plans in such shape that this year's 5-day entertainment course will come up to, if not surpass, last year's entertainment.

The canvass for the ticket sale will start on Saturday next and from present indications it looks as if it would be no trouble for the ticket canvassers to put the sale over the top.

The program of this year's entertainment is varied enough to suit the most exacting taste. In serious vein the speakers will discuss the various topics of reconstruction that are confronting the nation at this time. The great national and international questions that mean so much to the average citizen will be ably discussed by men who have seen conditions that are going to be met and that will have to be overcome. In lighter vein, there will be musicians that are the equal of anything on the concert stage and the selections of these is as varied as could be met. Vocal music, from the most classical of composer, up to the vaggiest of ragtime, and instrumental music by real artists.

There is no question but that last year's Chautauqua gave this community a buoyant, cheerful, go-to-it spirited entertainment when we were in the throes of war. This year the Chautauqua will throw light on many questions that have been the cause of much discussion and, without regard to class, creed, party or social stratification will bring to Clearfield a gospel of genuine uplift and broadened vision.

Mrs. B. Smith, 434 River street, says: "I suffered from pains in the small of my back which were severe when I did any washing or bending over. I had had headaches and was tired out and lame all the time and my kidneys, I knew, were the cause of this trouble. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and purchased a box at Irwin's Drug Store. Just one box of Doan's removed that trouble entirely and I have had just a slight attack since. Doan's did good work and I think they are a fine, reliable kidney remedy."

Holding Forth the Word of Life

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT—Holding forth the word of life, that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither labored in vain.—Phil 2:16.

Paul told his Philippian converts that it was not enough for them to be blameless and harmless, it was their duty also to hold forth the word of life. He intimated that if he did not find them engaged in personal work on his return he should consider his labor upon them practically wasted.

Every Christian has opportunities to do personal work. A friend of mine was giving a Bible-reading in an Eastern city. At the close a lady came to her and said: "Mrs. Walker, I do not agree with all you said today. You said that all Christians can lead souls to Christ if they will. But that is not true. Look at me, for instance, I am a mother with several small children. I could not have attended this meeting today only that my mother came to take care of the children. So you see that there are some people who cannot lead others to Christ."

Mrs. Walker replied: "Perhaps so, but I do not quite see it yet. Would you mind if I asked you a few questions?"

"Certainly not."

"Very well. Do you employ a milkman?"

"Yes."

"How often does he call at your house?"

"Every morning."

"Is he a Christian?"

"I don't know."

"Does the grocer call at your house very often?"

"Yes, once a day at least, and sometimes twice."

"Is he a saved man?"

"Well, really, I cannot say. I have never asked him."

"Does the meat man call every day?"

"Yes."

"Has he been converted?"

"Mrs. Walker, I don't know anything about it." And with that she turned and went out of the room.

Two years afterward Mrs. Walker was in the same city, giving a Bible-reading in another church. At the close a lady came up to her and said: "Mrs. Walker, do you remember me?"

"No, I don't think I have ever seen you before."

"Well, I remember you very distinctly." Then she related her former interview, and said: "I went out of that room vexed with you and myself and everybody else. I couldn't sleep very much that night. I pondered the matter long and carefully, and finally came to the conclusion that it was just as much my business as any one's to know about the spiritual condition of those who were daily coming to my door."

"I made up my mind that I would begin with the milkman, and I thought out a nice little speech to fit his case. I arose early, built my fire, and waited for my man. Pretty soon he came hurrying in, poured out his milk, and was about to leave. Meanwhile I had been fumbling about, trying to find my speech; but somehow I could not get hold of either end of it. Finally, in despair, I shouted out his name just as he went out of the door. He hurried back, and began to tip up his milk can, saying as he did so, 'Do you want another quart?'"

"No, I don't want another quart."

I replied: "I want to ask you if you are a Christian."

"He sat down in a chair, and looking me straight in the face, he said: 'Mrs. Walker, why didn't you ask me that question last year? You remember we were holding special meetings in our church, and I was interested, but I felt ashamed to let it be known. However, I knew that you were a Christian; and so I kept telling you about the meetings, and talking to you every morning about one and another who had come out for Christ, hoping that you would say something to me about my soul. You never said one word, Mrs. —; and now I don't care one cent about the whole business; and with that he picked up his milk cans and left the house.'

"Mrs. Walker, perhaps you can imagine how I felt. I lay down on my kitchen floor flat on my face, and there I sobbed out my shame and grief before God until I was assured of his forgiveness. I promised him that I would try to live so that none who came to my door should ever have just cause to say that I did not care for his soul. Then I arose and prepared for business. And Mrs. Walker, there were nine people who came to my house that day to whom I was able to give a gospel message, and today seven out of the nine are professing Christians. Mrs. Walker, I believe you are right when you say that every Christian can lead others to Christ."

It is foolish to be afraid of making our ties too spiritual, as if so we could lose any genuine love.—Lucy Larcom.

DEMANDS OF SHOE MAKERS WILL MEAN HIGHER PRICES

BOSTON, July 14.—The labor situation has jumped into the limelight ahead of ascending prices in the shoe and leather trade in New England and in a manner that must command the attention of every consumer and dealer. In Brockton and elsewhere among the shoe manufacturing centers the employees are demanding a $5-a-week wage scale, despite repeated increases granted during the war and the fact that hours have been reduced to what would appear to be a working minimum.

The Commonwealth Shoe and Leather company, of Boston, one of the large concerns, furnishes an example of the demands that are being made by the workers. In addition to the high prevailing wages this company has been paying a bonus of 30 per cent. at its factory in Gardiner, Me., but labor now demands an increase of 20 per cent. more. The manager is trying to get the men to compromise on an advance of 10 per cent. and he says that to grant the 20 per cent. would mean that the company would be forced to lose money on sales. The officers of the company now are trying to decide whether they can find a way to grant the demands of the men and pass the increase along or whether they must close the factory and give up making shoes in Gardiner for a time. The company has another large shoe factory at Whitman, Mass., where an addition is being built and as the men there have not made such extravagant demands it is likely that that plant will be given much of the work that ordinarily would be done in Gardiner.

At the Hazard factory in Gardiner similar demands have been presented, with the additional call for an eight-hour day. The employees have been offered 15 per cent. more pay and a 52 1-2 hour week but will not consider a compromise.

In Haverhill the shoe workers seem bent upon carrying on a war either with the manufacturers or else one union against another. This city, like Lynn, furnishes an almost continuous stream of labor troubles with the whole factory workers who number several thousand in each place.

More Increases Expected
There can be but one result, in the opinion of shoe and leather men, and that is the men will be paid more. How long this sort of thing can go on without a real "show down" is a problem. The view is held that the granting of higher wages and then "passing the buck" on to the dealer and to the consumer must end somewhere; that the people finally will cut their buying of shoes so low that there will be a surplus and no work and that this will awaken the men to the fact that they may be killing the goose that lays the golden eggs so to speak.

The trade now knows the price of shoes at retail will be increased from 10 to 50 per cent within three months, according to the grade and present price. It is said that a pair of fine shoes that now sells for $12 will go up to $15 or more. Almost every one in the trade believed a year ago that prices had reached the top. They did not appreciate what labor was going to do. The labor advances have, of course affected prices from the raising of hide cattle in the west and abroad, through the killing transportation, tanning and manufacturing stages of the finished product thus raising the prices of materials and transportation as well as for the shoes themselves.

BIG STRIKE AT HARVESTER PLANT

CHICAGO, ILL., July 16.—Ten thousand men at the tractor and reaper plants of the International Harvester Company are on strike. No specific demands have been made. The men are now receiving wages 140 per cent more than they received five years ago.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

News received Saturday from Orrie Norris and Merritt Caldwell and their families, who started on a trip to the coast by auto last week, is that they had arrived at Cleveland all right, but had run into several severe storms on the border of Pennsylvania and Ohio which had retarded their progress somewhat. All are well and enjoying the trip so far immensely.

Mark G. Clute, who was connected with the clerical force of the Curwensville National Bank for some months, has resigned his position and accepted a position with the Rothrock people as a traveling salesman.

Saturday evening the members of Pike township school board in session in Squire Dale's office elected the following corps of school teachers for the incoming term, which commences on the eighth day of September: Olanta, Elizabeth Dunlap; Caldwell, Margaret Evans; Bloomington, Ernestine Rafferty; Oakland, Elizabeth Murphy; Curry, Ruth Bloom; Chestnut Ridge, Marion Snyder; Evergreen, Elizabeth Freeman; Bridgeport, Louisa Freeman; Summit Ridge, Genevieve Myrty; Pleasant Grove, Genevieve Rafferty; Locust Ridge, Inez Dale.

Mrs. Drunsbaugh and Mrs. Joseph Patton, both of Philadelphia, are house guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Russell, where they will be entertained for the next two weeks.

Louie Brunetti has improved the outward appearance of his residence on north Pine street, by having it repainted and the porch roofs repainted.

A. Z. Wolf, Sr., is adding some improvements to his handsome brick residence by having some concrete walks laid. Samuel Kelly having charge of the work.

William Wolf, who is connected with the firm of Wolf, Edmonson & Co., has accepted an important position with the Carnegie Fertilizer company. He will have entire charge of a branch office with headquarters in Baltimore. He is now on the job and his hosts of Curwensville friends wish him unbounded success in his new field of work.

Chief Clark was out of town several days last week and an inquiry has developed the fact that he visited Danville, Philadelphia and wound up his itinerary by visiting the Grace Penitentiary at Bellefonte. While there he was fortunate in being allowed to visit the death house, where an attendant explained the deadly workings of the death chair apparatus and everything else that pertained to the taking of a man's life who was called upon to suffer the death sentence for a crime committed. He is of the opinion the penitentiary is a great institution and conducted in a manner above censure.

Samuel Arnold Heimbeld, a former resident of this place, and at one time interested in the publishing of the old Mountaineer newspaper, now engaged in the insurance business in Pittsburgh, was a Curwensville visitor with relatives over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Wolf, Miss Corn and Master Robert motored to Sulphur Springs, Bedford county, last Saturday where they will spend several days of this week.

The half dozen band boys who have been traveling with a carnival company for the past two weeks returned to their homes in this place Saturday evening, the term of their engagements having expired.

having expired.

Captain Estes, who represents the government claim board at Washington, was a visitor to the Pennsylvania Hide and Leather company's tannery yesterday and looked over a lot of leather that the government ordered, and passed on as A1 some months ago and then refused to take. Captain Estes was the first government leather inspector to come to this tannery almost two years ago, and while here demonstrated that he thoroughly understood his business, and made many friends among the employees of that large plant during his stay.

Captain and Mrs. J. M. Craven and daughter, Miss Elizabeth, are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mullen, at their home on north Walnut street. Mrs. Craven, before her marriage, was Miss Martha Eastmann and is a sister of Mrs. Mullen. Captain Craven has resigned his commission in the Adjutant General's department after seventeen years service and is now on his way to Texas to engage in the oil business. Prior to his separation from the army, he was stationed at Camp Meade, Md., near Baltimore, and as he had charge of all the massing of troops in camp, the Pennsylvania boys were the most willing men he has ever seen in his seventeen years of service, and that their willingness to learn enabled them to become efficient soldiers in an almost incredibly short space of time.

The condition of Rev. Hawkins, pastor of the Grace Lutheran church, who has been ill for several months, is not so encouraging to his many Curwensville and Mahaffey friends as it was a few days ago. He was up and about the house last week but since Sunday has been confined to his bed. The ball game which was scheduled to take place yesterday afternoon did not materialize, owing to the wet weather. The game was to have been played between Curwensville and Philadelphia.

A rather novel entertainment is advertised to take place down on the ball ground on Thursday evening. It is in the nature of a prize fight, only the combatants are a rattlesnake and a black snake. The mixup will not be very pleasant one to witness, yet if the combat really takes place, and there is no reason to doubt but what it will, the owners of the reptiles can rely upon a good audience being present to witness the fight, as there has already been considerable controversy as to the fighting merits of each snake. Sports who like to witness such contests and do a little betting on the side, are offering odds that the rattlesnake will win the championship, although he might be a little longer in doing it than Dempsey was in snatching the title from Willard.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullen and son Frederick took advantage of the fine weather last Sunday and motored over the mountain and made a day's visit with relatives in Port Matilda.

Squire John A. Dale and A. H. Irvin, who resides along river street, have beautified their dwelling houses with a bounteous supply of fresh paint, which adds much to the appearance of their homes.

It is reported by people who have been out on the mountains after huckleberries that rattlesnakes are almost as plentiful as the berries, and that several persons have narrowly escaped being bitten. This will likely keep timid folks home, who no doubt would like very much to spend a day or two on the mountains gathering berries.

Acid In Stomach Sours The Food

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash, or nausea. He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices. Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

MEDICAL MEN TO HONOR DISCOVERER OF ANESTHESIA

BOSTON, Mass., July 15.—The entire medical world, together with eminent representatives of the dental profession will be invited to participate in a celebration of the centennial anniversary of the birth of Dr. William T. G. Morton, which occurs next month. The dental profession is indebted to Dr. Morton for the invention of solder to fasten false teeth to gold plates. But the entire medical world and humanity at large is indebted to him for his discovery and first successful application of ether to cause insensibility to pain.

Dr. Morton was a native of Massachusetts and was descended from Revolutionary stock. At an early age he was compelled to leave school and begin the struggle for self support. Deciding to take up the dental profession he went to Hartford, Conn., where he studied with Dr. Horace Wells and later became his partner in the practice of dentistry. Later he returned to Boston and took up the study of medicine.

It was just seventy-five years ago today that Dr. Morton first applied hydrochloric ether to the tooth of a patient before applying the instrument used in filling his experiment resulting in the discovery that ether caused insensibility to pain.

In the same year he matriculated at the Harvard college medical school and here he made the acquaintance of Dr. Joseph C. Warren, one of the eminent medical men of that day.

Continuing his experiments with the anesthetic Dr. Morton in 1846, shut himself alone in a room, breathed hydrochloric ether, and was rendered for a time insensible. Learning of the success of the early experiments, Dr. Warren sent for Morton and invited him to administer his preparation to a patient about to undergo an operation. The operation proved painless and successful. The next trial was made November 7, 1846 and was even more notable. On this occasion a patient's leg was amputated without the patient feeling any pain.

Despite the success of these experiments the medical profession discouraged the use of Dr. Morton's preparation as against the code of medical ethics since the nature of the preparation was kept a secret by the discoverer.

To meet the objections of his fellow physicians Dr. Morton made a free gift of the use of his discovery to the Massachusetts General hospital, and in 1848 the trustees presented him with a silver box containing $1,000 and bearing the inscription "He has become poor in a cause which has made the world his debtor."

Despite the fact that Dr. Morton's discovery was one of the most valuable in the entire history of medical science the discoverer failed to reap any adequate financial returns. He was granted patents for his preparation both in the United States and Europe, but he voluntarily surrendered his legal rights for the benefit of humanity. The opposition of certain members of his own profession ruined his medical practice in Boston, and he was finally compelled to apply to Congress for relief. In Congress his claims to the discovery of the anesthetic were opposed by Dr. Wells and others, and the result was that a bill appropriating $100,000 as a national testimonial for his discovery was defeated.

Later his claims were generally recognized both at home and abroad. The French Academy of Sciences awarded him a prize of 2,500 francs for his discovery. Decorations were bestowed upon him by the governments of Sweden and Russia, and the State of Massachusetts placed his name second in the list of fifty-three immortals that adorn the dome of the State House in Boston.

After his retirement from the practice of medicine Dr. Morton engaged in farming at Wellesley, Mass. His death occurred in 1886 while he was visiting in New York City.

ALUMNI OF PENN STATE TO PICNIC AT HERSHEY PARK

The Central Pennsylvania Alumni association of Harrisburg is planning to hold the greatest automobile outing of Penn State men ever held in the State. This outing will be held at Hershey Park located twelve miles east of Harrisburg on Saturday, August 9, 1919.

Hershey Park is a most ideal place to have such a meeting of Alumni, undergraduates and friends of Penn State. Every opportunity is offered there for a most pleasant and successful day. Swimming pool, bowling alley, pool baseball, dancing, tennis, carousel, canoeing, boating, zoological garden and a miniature railroad which offers all visitors the opportunity of getting a bird's-eye view of all these combined amusements, are some of the things which promise to make this the most successful outing for everyone who finds it possible to meet at this point on that day.

Very good hotel accommodations can be found at Harrisburg and those coming from a distance will have Sunday to return to their homes. It will do all you fellows as well as all other alumni of your country a lot of good to take this day off, and meet with the other alumni and undergraduates of "Penn State". Those who do not provide themselves with lunch can procure same on the grounds.

Immediately after lunch there will be a meeting in the large pavilion where the crowd will be entertained by Hon. H. Walton Mitchell representative of the faculty and of the State government. A good time is assured and it is hoped that all Penn State men as well as friends of that institution will make it a point to attend this outing if possible.

It is the wish of the committee in charge that all Penn State Alumni give this outing as much publicity as possible and urge every one that can to go.

BRITAIN PAYING RESPECTS TO "JACK"
DAILY MAIL LAUDS AMERICAN ARMY

LONDON, July 16.—General Pershing is today the honor guest of Great Britain. This afternoon he will be presented to the nobility of England by Ambassador Davis and tonight a dinner will be given at the Carlton Hotel.

The Daily Mail in commenting on the visit of General Pershing to England paid this tribute to America: "We do not forget what we owe General Pershing, his country or his valiant men. In the dark days when the Hun hordes were sweeping towards the Marne, it was General Pershing who said 'here are our men, trained and untrained, use them'."

ALLIED OFFENSIVE AGAINST THE
BOLSHEVIK IN VIENNA FORECAST

PARIS, July 16.—The probability of an Allied offensive against the Bolsheviki front lines in Austria Hungary looms large. From dispatches filed at Vienna it is learned that the Bolsheviki plan to reclaim a soviet republic with Vienna as the capital. The proclamation is scheduled to appear on July 21st.

Vienna has become a Bolsheviki stronghold, at least it is the headquarters of the leaders who for many months have realized the supreme strategical position of the former capital of Austria and saw that a strong entrenchment there would enable them to reach out and stifle the whole of Central Europe.

KAISERIN VERY ILL

BERLIN, July 16.—A dispatch from Ameringen, Holland, stated today that the Kaiserin was very ill suffering with heart trouble. A doctor was in attendance throughout the night.

SENATE COMMITTEE
IN FIRST CLASH ON
WILSON STATUS

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Upon the question of the right of the President to keep locked within his own mind all the secret history of the conference has arisen the first clash between the administration and the Senate Foreign Relations committee over the treaty of peace.

A majority of the committee today demanded all the information in the President's possession about these three subjects:

- 1.—Why was the award of the Chantung peninsula to Japan made and is it true that Secretary Lansing, General Bliss and Henry White protest on the act of the American delegation at Paris against it?
- 2.—Is it true that Japan entered into a secret treaty with Germany for partition of Prussia and what were the real relations between Japan and Germany during the war?
- 3.—Why is Nicaragua permitted to invade Costa Rica and why was Costa Rica not permitted to sign the peace treaty at Versailles.

The committee has under consideration a resolution by Senator Johnson demanding the full stenographic record of the meeting of the Big Five and the other commissioners at which the League of Nations was considered and agreed upon. This resolution probably will be adopted by the committee tomorrow.

The controversy over the right of secrecy consumed practically all of the time of the committee when it assembled this morning for the first session on the treaty. Administration Senators stubbornly oppose all the attempts made by the Republican majority to have the veil of secrecy lifted so that the committee might know the inside history of all the peace conference transactions.

The position taken by the Democratic members is that the committee has no right to inquire into any of the reasons which led to the adoption of specific provisions in the treaty. It contends that such information is the possession of the President is confidential and should not be inquired into.

The Republicans contend that the President went to Paris as a delegate from the United States to the conference and that the foreign relations committee is not bound to respect any confidence that may exist between him and other parties. They assert the constitutional right of the committee to inquire into the reason for any provision in the treaty regarding which they may desire information.

The majority members of the committee emphasize their belief in the soundness of their belief by passing the LaFollette resolution regarding Costa Rica, the Lodge resolution asking for the truth about the alleged protest of three members of the American peace delegation against the Chantung decision. The vote on the Borah resolution was 11 to 4, and on the Lodge resolution 13 to 2. Senator Hitchcock, leader of the administration fight for the league, voting "no."

Senator Johnson commented upon the situation in the committee in the following language:

"There is a fundamental difference between the Democrats and the Republicans on the committee. The Democrats take the position that anything that transpires at the conference leading up to the adoption of the treaty is confidential, and that the President should not be asked to tell about it. A majority of the committee declares that there can be no question of confidence between the President and the committee that the President went to Paris merely as our commissioner, and that the committee has the constitutional right to know everything that went on there between him and the commissioners."

YANK WON THIS CONTEST SURE

(By United Press.)
PARIS. (By Mail).—Just who won the war is still a live question of debate, but there is no argument as to which nation's warriors come off best in matrimonial contests in France. The Yanks won.

A typical example of how completely the American doughboys in France outclassed their British, Belgian and other rivals is furnished by the marriage bureau of La Rochelle, a small seaport down on the coast between Bordeaux and St. Nazaire.

The Americans started with a severe handicap. The other Allies had had three years and more to entice away the girls of La Rochelle before the doughboys had even learned to say "Bon jour."

But the figures tell best the story of ultimate triumph. A total of sixty-three girls of the seaport town married foreign soldiers during the war. Twenty-three of them were won by Americans. Belgium came in second best, carrying off nineteen brides.

Other armies were represented in the following proportions: Italians five; English, three; Swiss, three; Russians, three; Spanish, two; Danes, one; Poland, Greece, Cuba and Turkey each scored one.

Throughout France the story of La Rochelle was repeated.

ANOTHER SMART DUBOIS
CITIZEN

A woman named Hattie Shannon, of DuBois, who has been making periodical visits to Mill Hall treating individuals who are ill was placed under arrest Monday evening at Mill Hall by Constable W. W. Pettigill, on a warrant issued by Alderman John P. Anthony on information made June 20 by Drs. S. J. McGhee, A. B. Painter, C. B. Kirk, and F. P. Ball, members of the Clinton county medical association, charging her with practicing medicine and diagnosing cases at different times within the past two years without a license and without being lawfully qualified.

The accused woman, who was accompanied by her husband, was taken before Alderman Anthony, where she gave bail in the sum of $500 for her appearance at court. She at first declined to give bail, even though her bondsman was present, but on the way to jail in charge of the constable she changed her mind and hence will be free until the hearing on July 25 and thereafter until the case is heard in court.

District Attorney H. T. Hall represented the commonwealth and the defendant has retained B. F. Geary to defend her.

It is said Mrs. Shannon had built up quite a practice as a result of her visits to Mill Hall, patients coming to her from different sections of Nitany valley, as well as from Lock Haven.

Miss Frances Rishel returned to her home in Railroad, York county, after visiting a few days with the W. E. Davis family at the County farm.

SECOND STREET
REPAVING UNDERWAY

The work incident to the repaving of South Second street is progressing rapidly. The old brick have been removed from the Point to Ogden avenue and the street between those two points will be ready for the concrete base just as soon as the material for same arrives.

More than fifty per cent of the old brick taken up will be utilized for gutter paving on side hill streets, while above Ogden avenue to Spruce street many of the bricks to be taken up will be replaced in the paving, as they are in very good shape. It is estimated that not more than 30,000 new brick will be required on this street and as the Highway Department has some 58,000 brick on hand which were bought in 1916 at the price then prevailing, considerable of a saving will be made on brick.

Cement is about 35 cents per barrel dearer now than in 1916 and stone is also about 50 cents per ton higher in price. Labor has also advanced 50 cents per day.

The Highway Department expects to have the street open for traffic before October 1st.

PETITION

No Good Reason For Further Delay In Improving The Third Street Paving

UNITED ACTION IS NEEDED

A petition is in circulation about town which every Clearfielder should sign. This petition asks the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to do something toward improving the deplorable condition of Third street. The Pennsy track occupies the center of this street with the paved driveway of the street on the east side of the track. This street or driveway is entirely too narrow for the immense traffic on Third street and it has got to such a point that it is dangerous to even attempt to negotiate the street.

Some time ago a request was made of the Pennsylvania officials to have the space between their tracks paved but action on the matter was avoided by the company on account of wartime conditions.

The necessity for relief grows more apparent and necessary daily and as the war is now at an end a movement has been inaugurated which seeks to have the improvement made now.

The Highway Department of Council is already at work on the proposition and have arranged for a meeting with the Division Engineer of the Pennsy here in Clearfield within the next few days and the petition mentioned is being circulated for the purpose of showing the unanimity of our people in asking for immediate relief of present conditions.

Now is the time to get busy on this proposition and no let up should occur until the street is placed in the condition it should be in.

SENATORS TO THE WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON D. C., July 16.—President Wilson yesterday invited a number of Republican senators to confer with him in regard to the ratification of the peace treaty and the League of Nations covenant, as was stated at the White House. Invitations to fifteen senators will go out at once. This course is in line with the president's stated policy of putting himself in close touch with the senate members all through the consideration of the treaty.

WASHINGTON, July 16.—An armistice prevailed today in the Senate over the prohibition question.

Senator Hitchcock was prevented yesterday from seeing the President but will make an effort to have a conference with him this afternoon.

The Shantung settlement has proved to be a weak spot in the administration program but administration senators believe that it will not interfere with the ratification of the covenant. They point out that Japan would consider it a serious affront if the U. S. does not approve of the settlement.

U. S. DISTRICT ATTORNEY PLANS TO
ARREST ALL VIOLATORS OF DRY LAW

PITTSBURGH, July 16.—Arrest and prosecution of every retail and wholesale liquor dealer in Pittsburgh who has been selling liquor containing more than one half of one per cent. alcohol is forecast in a statement issued today by U. S. District Attorney Crawford of Pittsburgh. The government stand was taken immediately after it became known that Judge Thompson had overruled the demurrer filed by the Pittsburgh brewers.

R. B. Chapin head of the Internal Revenue office stated that he was ready to cause arrests the moment that the official notice of the action of the court reached his office.

Pittsburgh saloons are selling near beer today.

FORTY MILLION CHINESE TRADED FOR
JAPS SIGNATURE TO PEACE TREATY

WASHINGTON, July 15.—Sensational disclosures of the reputed reason why 40,000,000 Chinese people in Chantung were bartered off at the peace conference to Japan in return for Japan's vote for the League of Nations startled the senate today.

It was openly charged by opponents of the league and admitted by supporters of the President that President Wilson agreed to give the Chinese province to Japan as the price of Japan's support of the league.

The President was helpless, it was stated, was obliged against his will to accede to Japan's demands which was buttressed with the secret treaty made by Japan with England and France. The alternative would have been separate peace between Japan and Germany and Japan's staying out of the league.

"What is the senate going to do about it?" was the challenge flung to the Republican charge after this explanation.

The senate's answer may be a resolution dissolving that section of the treaty and withholding approval of the Chantung award. Senator Norris of Nebraska, will offer such a resolution when the treaty comes before the Senate.

The admission that the President did not approve of the Chantung decision until he was forced into acceptance of it, came as a surprise to the senate. It was made by Senator John Sharp Williams, of Mississippi in the midst of a furious debate on the resolution by Senator Norris demanding that the facts in the possession of the state department respecting the alleged secret treaty between Japan and Germany and all information regarding alleged secret negotiations between those two nations while the war is on.

The resolution, called up by Senator Lodge late in the afternoon, was finally adopted by unanimous vote, but before the vote was taken there was one of the most exciting debates to which the senate has listened since the discussion of the treaty began. Charges flew thick and fast as senator after senator arose to add his word of condemnation of the Chantung award and the whole conduct of the peace conference to Japan.

Throughout the debate the anti-Japanese tone was particularly violent. The award of the Chantung territory was denounced as the virtual enslavement of its millions of inhabitants. It was declared that Japan's promise to give the territory back would mean nothing because "Japan has never kept any promise she made." It was asserted that the decision meant the eventual dismemberment of China in Japan's favor and that the immediate advantage to Japan was control of the three big ways to China.

The dominance given Japan by her control of Chinese territory was referred to and it was stated that the decision would greatly strengthen the power of Japan's rising power in the east.

Senator Borah, of Idaho, threw a bombshell into the debate by asserting that it would be better for the United States to go to war with Japan than to give assistance to the theft of territory and the enslavement of the Chinese Millions.

If the time ever comes when we must choose between aiding in the enslavement of millions of the human race, the dismemberment of a free Republic, the partition of the territory of one of the best friends this nation has ever had, or face the challenge of another power, we will face that other power.

"I have no fear that any action taken by this senate may take mean war with Japan. But there is one thing certain and that is the people of the United States will never consent when the facts are known to the enslavement of millions of people with our help and assistance. The American people will refuse to cut up China. I have no thought of a war with Japan, but if we must face that issue rather than consent to this treatment of millions of free people, then we may as well have it now as some time in the future."

Senator Lodge warned the senate against agreeing to the award to Japan and declared that there will be "an opportunity in the senate for those who oppose it to vote against it."

BRITISH AIRCRAFT LOST
LONDON, July 16.—Search is now being made for some trace of the British dirigible NT-11 which is lost somewhere over the North Sea. It is believed that she was struck by lightning and exploded. About twenty men compose the crew. The NT-11 held the long distance air record before the R-34 made her trip to America. The NT-11 had made a continuous flight of 104 hours.

JONES VOTED THE WISH OF HIS CONSTITUENTS

Hon. Evan J. Jones, who represents this county in the national House of Representatives, went to congress with an ambition to get on the House Agricultural Committee and his fondest hopes were realized. Although a new member he was selected for a seat on this all important committee. Congressman Jones was heart and soul interested in the progress of agriculture for his district and for the nation at large and worked indefatigably for a larger appropriation for the Department of Agriculture. It was with no little regret that he saw the President veto this important measure and by his veto hold up the work outlined by the Department of Agriculture. Mr. Jones knows through his experience and thru being in close touch with the farming industry that the so-called daylight saving law works to the disadvantage of the farmer in many ways so it was not surprising to find that he was among the faithful few who voted to override the veto of the President and thereby get a useless law off our books and at the same time start the machinery of our federal department of agriculture in motion. Those interested in agriculture will not forget how Congressman Jones voted on this issue.

WHO DID THE DYNAMITING?

The associate editor of the Philipsburg Journal takes exception to the privilege of The Progress to tell all the circumstances and reflect popular and general opinion on the causes leading up to the Janesville dynamiting. If this outrage and that at Winburne were not the work of an organization, or the work of an individual member of the Bolsheviks it was most certainly the work of one having strong leanings in that direction. In both instances there was a ruthless disregard for human life; a strong possibility of the murder of little children and a desire to wreck and destroy valuable property. That is Bolshevik principle exactly. If the Journal has any better theory in the face of these facts let him trot it out. There was no implication that the U. M. W. of A. or the Socialist party had anything to do with these outrages but there is a strong possibility that, in the Janesville case, the deed grew out of the labor dispute and in giving the history of the case it was necessary to give names. The Progress is not given to refraining from publishing names simply to keep from tramping on the toes of the thin skinned.

HUSBAND'S POLITICS TO HAVE NO INFLUENCE

Will wives vote as their husbands vote? Not unless the husband votes the right way, and as an instance of how wives and husbands can agree, amicably, to disagree, Mrs. Frank P. Hays, of St. Louis, Missouri, has decided to ally herself with the Republican party, while her husband is a Democrat.

Her friends, knowing that she had long conducted the News Letter a nonpartisan publication in the interests of the suffrage cause, were surprised to find that, relieved of her work, she has come out as a Republican, anxious to do all she can to help the party.

But in answer to an inquiry Mrs. Hays says that she has not been "converted" to the Republican party, that she has always been a Republican. Neither is she interested in that party because of her son-in-law Forest Donnell, law partner of Senator Sponder, the Republican United States Senator from Missouri.

She was a Republican before he was born!

Mrs. Hays has been prominent as a club woman, as a war worker, as a philanthropist, and is even a member of the Board of the Woman's Labor Union as she is very much in sympathy with the wage earner. Having opinions on all these varied interests, what more natural than that she should have political opinions as well? She has—strong ones. She feels that she has the right to vote as she pleases, and her husband agrees with her perfectly.

AUDITOR GENERAL SNYDER ON TAXES PAID TO STATE

Prepared for the Bulletin by the

Auditor Gen. Hon. Charles A. Snyder

In the matter of the revenues of the State of Pennsylvania it should be borne in mind that since the passage of the Act of 1913 the State receives no tax whatever from personal property. Its revenues are in effect derived entirely from its taxes on corporations and on corporate obligations. Aside from the sums which are collected for licenses write, collateral inheritance, direct inheritance, automobiles and foreign insurance premiums the entire revenue is that which is derived from the tax on the Capital Stock on corporations, corporate loans, gross receipts, gross premiums and banks and trust companies.

Under our several Acts of Assembly corporations pay a tax of 5 mills upon the value of the Capital Stock as fixed by the fiscal officers of the Commonwealth. Also a tax of 4 mills upon the bonds scrip, certificates and evidences of indebtedness issued by corporations. Also a tax of eight-tenths of one per cent upon the gross receipts of all railroads, pipe lines, street passenger railways, etc., derived from transportation of freight or passengers or oil; and upon the gross receipts of all railroads, pipe lines, street passenger railways, etc., derived from the transportation of freight or passengers or oil; and upon the gross receipts from the business of every telephone or telegraph company, express company, electric light company, etc. Also a tax of eight-tenths of one per cent on the gross premiums of all insurance companies.

Pennsylvania differs in the method of her collection of revenues and system of taxation from any other state in the union, and as a matter of fact is the only state which collects no personal property tax.

The fact should also be borne in mind that under our laws manufacturing corporations are "entirely exempt from taxation." That is no part of their Capital Stock bears any part of the State tax if it is entirely employed in manufacturing. In this respect we also differ from every other state in the Union with the exception of California, Delaware, Connecticut and West Virginia. In the formation of our tax laws it has always been borne in mind that the State should encourage the location within her bounds of all manufacturing corporations, recognizing the fact that they brought to us increased and added wealth in many ways. The principle of relieving them from taxation was that of encouraging and fostering their development.

Under the now existing tax laws, and by a businesslike and proper administration and application of the same, there has been collected during the last fiscal year of his predecessor Auditor General's administration the sum of $44,166,368.74 as against a collection of $31,700,489.35 during the previous fiscal year, making a net increase of $12,466,793.39. Total payments of $42,407,064.30 have been made as against $29,360,493.19 during the last fiscal year of his predecessor with a balance in the treasury at the end of the fiscal year of $9,888,988.55.

In no one year has ever such a large amount of revenue been collected. This was accomplished without the help of any additional revenue measures, excepting that which came from the operation of the direct inheritance tax act of 1917 under which was collected the sum of $2,643,462.13.

The Auditor General is confident that with a systematic and proper application of the laws now existing and with the appropriation of sufficient sums to the department to permit of the systematic and scientific application of the laws and facilities for the collecting of the state's taxes and revenues, the collections for the coming year will not only be equal to that of the last fiscal year but will exceed same to some considerable extent. He is assured that the present laws provide ample means for all the state's present purposes and it has been his conscientious endeavor from the time he assumed office to see that the powers and duties of his department are properly and equitably applied and that the taxes due the state are not only properly levied and assessed, but also immediately collected. He found upon entering office about $12,000,000 of delinquent taxes and immediately put in operation a system for the collection of same. During his first year we succeeded in collecting $1,500,000 of these delinquent taxes, and did this at a surprisingly nominal expense to the Commonwealth. He also found hundreds of cases in which the corporations had appealed from the tax settlements made by the fiscal officers. These have been adjusted, with the exception of a very few, either by composition or by final adjudication had in the Court of Dauphin county.

As above stated these revenues of the Commonwealth have all been collected without the imposition of any tax whatever upon the manufacturing corporations of the state and the Auditor General feels confident that the necessary revenues can continue to be provided under the present laws without any recourse to a tax on our manufacturing industries.

CARNIVAL ROMANCE CULMINATES IN WEDDING

Oscar Halverson, of Ashland, Wisconsin, and Miss Ethel Stine, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. V. E. Stine, were united in marriage at the Stine home on Fourth street at 3 o'clock this afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. E. C. Reeve, of the First Presbyterian church, in the presence of the family and immediate friends of the contracting parties.

The wedding is the culmination of a romance which had its inception carnival week last year. Mr. Halverson was in charge of the Ferris wheel and merry-go-round with the Dorman & Crouse show last year and at that time first met his bride of today. It was a case of love at first sight and the young couple carried on a correspondence since that time. Mr. Halverson returned to Clearfield last week with the Rubin & Cherry shows with his riding devices, the question was popped and this afternoon's wedding was the result.

The bride is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stine and her many Clearfield friends extend warmest congratulations.

Sage Tea Keeps Your Hair Dark

When Mixed with Sulphur It Brings Back Its Beautiful Lustre at Once

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhance its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

RUSSIA AND HER BORDER STATES

By FRANK J. TAYLOR

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, July 16.—"Let the border states decide what government they want by means of plebiscites." That is the proposal the bolsheviks make regarding the small nations surrounding soviet Russia. Contrary to their policy in force now of dictating from Moscow the bolshevik foreign office recommends a "decentralized government" for the country. The chief bolsheviks hope for a confederation of communitistic Russian states.

The bolsheviks are unwilling to withdraw the Red armies, however, until a plebiscite is taken in the border states. The Whites (anti-bolsheviks) cling to the same policy.

However, the bolsheviks are encouraging development of separate governments for Letland, Ukraina, and other border provinces under their control. Under the sponsorship of Moscow, which has sent out emissaries to guide the builders of new governments, Red Letland and Red Ukraina are becoming more bolshevik than the bolsheviks themselves.

The saddest situation is that of the border peoples half under the Reds and half under the Whites. Lithuania is a typical example. The Lithuanians claim they are a distinct nation, different entirely from the Russians. Many Lithuanians want to be independent. Still others think the little country should be attached to a great power. The majority of the Lithuanian people, exploited by the old regime have no concern beyond bread and butter.

At present a large part of Lithuania is held by anti-bolshevik forces, most of whom are German and Polish. The Lithuanians have a small army which is sandwiched in between the German units. It is commanded by a Russian general from the Crimea. A sort of half-organized half-representative government rules on the anti-bolshevik side of the line. Germans are financing the new country at a great profit. Food conditions are improving, with food from America. Conditions of living are filthy and almost unhuman. The Lithuanians claim their chief city is Wilna. Wilna has been but recently taken from the bolsheviks by the Poles, who claim that Wilna is Polish. They say they are going to keep the city.

The only educated people in Lithuania are the owners of the estates, who naturally are anti-bolshevik. They keep the peasants in a condition not very much advanced from benevolent feudalism.

Lithuania is only one of more than a dozen little states bordering on Russia proper. The adjacent powers are eager for them and the bolsheviks refuse to give up claim to them without plebiscites. North of Lithuania is Courland and Esthonia, both of them more or less under the influence of the Germans. Those countries are almost as ignorant and poor in life as Lithuania. Both Esthonia and Courland are maintaining armies to fight the bolsheviks, with German help. The English fleet and marines are helping the Esthonians, who are now threatening Petrograd. Oddly, the English are in reality allied with German troops against the bolsheviks here.

The border provinces are harboring thousands of bourgeois from soviet Russia, refugees who fled from the bolsheviks. These people are actively propagandizing against the bolsheviks.

Most promising of the border states is Finland. The Finns are a race quite different from the Russians. This is evident by the contrast noticeable soon as one enters their country from Russia. Towns in Finland are cleaner, the railroads and stations are modern and comfortable, the cities are gems compared to Russian cities. Finland is rich in forest and minerals. The Finns had a considerable degree of self-government before the revolution and developed in their own way. Their schools made the percentage of illiterates lower than any other country in Europe. Finland leans toward Scandinavia in sympathy. Since the armistice, Finland has been independent, governed by the Russian General Mannerheim, with a provisional assembly or Diet. Finland's independence, has been recognized by the bolsheviks in Moscow. However, relations are still strained and the Finns are prepared for war with Russia any time. The border is closed tight.

In the south, where the Ukraine is divided, and all along the eastern bolshevik border peoples are declaring themselves nations. At present most of them are pawns of the armies which sweep back and forth, both sides impoverishing the natives. Degrading the fates of these upstarting nations will be a generation's problem.

BIG TENT SHOW OPENS JULY 29TH

The various committees in charge of the local Chautauqua which will open on July 29th are zealously working to get their plans in such shape that this year's 5-day entertainment course will come up to, if not surpass, last year's entertainment.

The canvass for the ticket sale will start on Saturday next and from present indications it looks as if it would be no trouble for the ticket canvassers to put the sale over the top.

The program of this year's entertainment is varied enough to suit the most exacting taste. In serious vein the speakers will discuss the various topics of reconstruction that are confronting the nation at this time. The great national and international questions that mean so much to the average citizen will be ably discussed by men who have seen conditions that are going to be met and that will have to be overcome. In lighter vein, there will be musicians that are the equal of anything on the concert stage and the selections of these is as varied as could be met. Vocal music, from the most classical of composer, up to the vaggiest of ragtime, and instrumental music by real artists.

There is no question but that last year's Chautauqua gave this community a buoyant, cheerful, go-to-it spirited entertainment when we were in the throes of war. This year the Chautauqua will throw light on many questions that have been the cause of much discussion and, without regard to class, creed, party or social stratification will bring to Clearfield a gospel of genuine uplift and broadened vision.

Mrs. B. Smith, 434 River street, says: "I suffered from pains in the small of my back which were severe when I did any washing or bending over. I had had headaches and was tired out and lame all the time and my kidneys, I knew, were the cause of this trouble. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills and purchased a box at Irwin's Drug Store. Just one box of Doan's removed that trouble entirely and I have had just a slight attack since. Doan's did good work and I think they are a fine, reliable kidney remedy."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfgs., Buffalo, N. Y.

HARD ON HIS POLITICS

A good Democratic citizen of Bradford township writes us as follows:

"I have taken your paper for six months and think I can stand it for six months more. It is hard on my politics but go to it. Here is your check."

That's the spirit. A lot of Bradford township Democrats look at it in the same light. They are just as good Democrats as they ever were but some are chafing under the "rob Pete to pay Paul" policy of their leaders.

Michael Bannon received a card yesterday announcing the safe arrival from overseas of his son John, who expects to be mustered out in a few days.

Holding Forth the Word of Life

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT—Holding forth the word of life, that I may rejoice in the day of Christ, that I have not run in vain, neither labored in vain.—Phil 2:16.

Paul told his Philippian converts that it was not enough for them to be blameless and harmless, it was their duty also to hold forth the word of life. He intimated that if he did not find them engaged in personal work on his return he should consider his labor upon them practically wasted.

Every Christian has opportunities to do personal work. A friend of mine was giving a Bible-reading in an Eastern city. At the close a lady came to her and said:

"Mrs. Walker, I do not agree with all you said today. You said that all Christians can lead souls to Christ if they will. But that is not true. Look at me, for instance. I am a mother with several small children. I could not have attended this meeting today only that my mother came to take care of the children. So you see that there are some people who cannot lead others to Christ."

"Mrs. Walker replied: 'Perhaps so, but I do not quite see it yet. Would you mind if I asked you a few questions?'"

"Certainly not."

"Very well. Do you employ a milkman?"

"Yes."

"How often does he call at your house?"

"Every morning."

"Is he a Christian?"

"I don't know."

"Does the grocer call at your house very often?"

"Yes, once a day at least, and sometimes twice."

"Is he a saved man?"

"Well, really, I cannot say. I have never asked him."

"Does the meat man call every day?"

"Yes."

"Has he been converted?"

"Mrs. Walker, I don't know anything about it." And with that she turned and went out of the room.

Two years afterward Mrs. Walker was in the same city, giving a Bible-reading in another church. At the close a lady came up to her and said:

"Mrs. Walker, do you remember me?"

"No, I don't think I have ever seen you before."

"Well, I remember you very distinctly." Then she related her former interview, and said: "I went out of that room vexed with you and myself and everybody else. I couldn't sleep very much that night. I pondered the matter long and carefully, and finally came to the conclusion that it was just as much my business as any one's to know about the spiritual condition of those who were daily coming to my door."

"I made up my mind that I would begin with the milkman, and I thought out a nice little speech to fit his case. I arose early, built my fire, and waited for my man. Pretty soon he came hurrying in, poured out his milk, and was about to leave. Meanwhile I had been fumbling about, trying to find my speech; but somehow I could not get hold of either end of it. Finally, in despair, I shouted out his name just as he went out of the door. He hurried back, and began to tip up his milk can, saying as he did so, 'Do you want another quart?'"

"No, I don't want another quart," I replied; "I want to ask you if you are a Christian."

"He sat down in a chair, and looking me straight in the face, he said: 'Mrs. Walker, why didn't you ask me that question last year? You remember we were holding special meetings in our church, and I was interested, but I felt ashamed to let it be known. However, I knew that you were a Christian; and so I kept telling you about the meetings, and talking to you every morning about one and another who had come out for Christ, hoping that you would say something to me about my soul. You never said one word, Mrs. —; and now I don't care one cent about the whole business; and with that he picked up his milk cans and left the house.'

"Mrs. Walker, perhaps you can imagine how I felt. I lay down on my kitchen floor flat on my face, and there I sobbed out my shame and grief before God until I was assured of his forgiveness. I promised him that I would try to live so that none who came to my door should ever have just cause to say that I did not care for his soul. Then I arose and prepared for business. And Mrs. Walker, there were nine people who came to my house that day to whom I was able to give a gospel message, and today seven out of the nine are professing Christians. Mrs. Walker, I believe you are right when you say that every Christian can lead others to Christ."

It is foolish to be afraid of making our ties too spiritual, as if so we could lose any genuine love.—Lucy Larcom.

DEMANDS OF SHOE MAKERS WILL MEAN HIGHER PRICES

BOSTON, July 14.—The labor situation has jumped into the limelight ahead of ascending prices in the shoe and leather trade in New England and in a manner that must command the attention of every consumer and dealer. In Brockton and elsewhere among the shoe manufacturing centers the employees are demanding a $5-a-week wage scale, despite repeated increases granted during the war and the fact that hours have been reduced to what would appear to be a working minimum.

The Commonwealth Shoe and Leather company, of Boston, one of the large concerns, furnishes an example of the demands that are being made by the workers. In addition to the high prevailing wages this company has been paying a bonus of 30 per cent. at its factory in Gardiner, Me., but labor now demands an increase of 20 per cent. more. The manager is trying to get the men to compromise on an advance of 10 per cent. and he says that to grant the 20 per cent. would mean that the company would be forced to lose money on sales. The officers of the company now are trying to decide whether they can find a way to grant the demands of the men and pass the increase along or whether they must close the factory and give up making shoes in Gardiner for a time. The company has another large shoe factory at Whitman, Mass., where an addition is being built and as the men there have not made such extravagant demands it is likely that that plant will be given much of the work that ordinarily would be done in Gardiner.

At the Hazard factory in Gardiner similar demands have been presented, with the additional call for an eight-hour day. The employees have been offered 15 per cent. more pay and a 52 1-2 hour week but will not consider a compromise.

In Haverhill the shoe workers seem bent upon carrying on a war either with the manufacturers or else one union against another. This city, like Lynn, furnishes an almost continuous stream of labor troubles with the whole factory workers who number several thousand in each place.

More Increases Expected
There can be but one result, in the opinion of shoe and leather men, and that is the men will be paid more. How long this sort of thing can go on without a real "show down" is a problem. The view is held that the granting of higher wages and then "passing the buck" on to the dealer and to the consumer must end somewhere; that the people finally will cut their buying of shoes so low that there will be a surplus and no work and that this will awaken the men to the fact that they may be killing the goose that lays the golden eggs so to speak.

The trade now knows the price of shoes at retail will be increased from 10 to 50 per cent within three months, according to the grade and present price. It is said that a pair of fine shoes that now sells for $12 will go up to $15 or more. Almost every one in the trade believed a year ago that prices had reached the top. They did not appreciate what labor was going to do. The labor advances have, of course affected prices from the raising of hide cattle in the west and abroad, through the killing transportation, tanning and manufacturing stages of the finished product thus raising the prices of materials and transportation as well as for the shoes themselves.

BIG STRIKE AT HARVESTER PLANT

CHICAGO, ILL., July 16.—Ten thousand men at the tractor and reaper plants of the International Harvester Company are on strike. No specific demands have been made. The men are now receiving wages 140 per cent more than they received five years ago.

NEWS OF OUR NEIGHBORS CURWENSVILLE

News received Saturday from Orrie Norris and Merritt Caldwell and their families, who started on a trip to the coast by auto last week, is that they had arrived at Cleveland all right, but had run into several severe storms on the border of Pennsylvania and Ohio which had retarded their progress somewhat. All are well and enjoying the trip so far immensely.

Mark G. Clute, who was connected with the clerical force of the Curwensville National Bank for some months, has resigned his position and accepted a position with the Rothrock people as a traveling salesman.

Saturday evening the members of Pike township school board in session in Squire Dale's office elected the following corps of school teachers for the incoming term, which commences on the eighth day of September: Olanta, Elizabeth Dunlap; Caldwell, Margaret Evans; Bloomington, Ernestine Rafferty; Oakland, Elizabeth Murphy; Curry, Ruth Bloom; Chestnut Ridge, Marion Snyder; Evergreen, Elizabeth Freeman; Bridgeport, Louisa Freeman; Summit Ridge, Genevieve Myrty; Pleasant Grove, Genevieve Rafferty; Locust Ridge, Inez Dale.

Mrs. Drunsbaugh and Mrs. Joseph Patton, both of Philadelphia, are house guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Russell, where they will be entertained for the next two weeks.

Louie Brunetti has improved the outward appearance of his residence on north Pine street, by having it repainted and the porch roofs repainted.

A. Z. Wolf, Sr., is adding some improvements to his handsome brick residence by having some concrete walks laid. Samuel Kelly having charge of the work.

William Wolf, who is connected with the firm of Wolf, Edmonson & Co., has accepted an important position with the Carnegie Fertilizer company. He will have entire charge of a branch office with headquarters in Baltimore. He is now on the job and his hosts of Curwensville friends wish him unbounded success in his new field of work.

Chief Clark was out of town several days last week and an inquiry has developed the fact that he visited Danville, Philadelphia and wound up his itinerary by visiting the Grace Penitentiary at Bellefonte. While there he was fortunate in being allowed to visit the death house, where an attendant explained the deadly workings of the death chair apparatus and everything else that pertained to the taking of a man's life who was called upon to suffer the death sentence for a crime committed. He is of the opinion the penitentiary is a great institution and conducted in a manner above censure.

Samuel Arnold Heimbeld, a former resident of this place, and at one time interested in the publishing of the old Mountaineer newspaper, now engaged in the insurance business in Pittsburgh, was a Curwensville visitor with relatives over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Z. Wolf, Miss Corn and Master Robert motored to Sulphur Springs, Bedford county, last Saturday where they will spend several days of this week.

The half dozen band boys who have been traveling with a carnival company for the past two weeks returned to their homes in this place Saturday evening, the term of their engagements having expired.

having expired.

Captain Estes, who represents the government claim board at Washington, was a visitor to the Pennsylvania Hide and Leather company's tannery yesterday and looked over a lot of leather that the government ordered, and passed on as A1 some months ago and then refused to take. Captain Estes was the first government leather inspector to come to this tannery almost two years ago, and while here demonstrated that he thoroughly understood his business, and made many friends among the employees of that large plant during his stay.

Captain and Mrs. J. M. Craven and daughter, Miss Elizabeth, are visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Mullen, at their home on north Walnut street. Mrs. Craven, before her marriage, was Miss Martha Eastmann and is a sister of Mrs. Mullen. Captain Craven has resigned his commission in the Adjutant General's department after seventeen years service and is now on his way to Texas to engage in the oil business. Prior to his separation from the army, he was stationed at Camp Meade, Md., near Baltimore, and as he had charge of all the massing of troops in camp, the Pennsylvania boys were the most willing men he has ever seen in his seventeen years of service, and that their willingness to learn enabled them to become efficient soldiers in an almost incredibly short space of time.

The condition of Rev. Hawkins, pastor of the Grace Lutheran church, who has been ill for several months, is not so encouraging to his many Curwensville and Mahaffey friends as it was a few days ago. He was up and about the house last week but since Sunday has been confined to his bed.

The ball game which was scheduled to take place yesterday afternoon did not materialize, owing to the wet weather. The game was to have been played between Curwensville and Philadelphia.

A rather novel entertainment is advertised to take place down on the ball ground on Thursday evening. It is in the nature of a prize fight, only the combatants are a rattlesnake and a black snake. The mixup will not be very pleasant one to witness, yet if the combat really takes place, and there is no reason to doubt but what it will, the owners of the reptiles can rely upon a good audience being present to witness the fight, as there has already been considerable controversy as to the fighting merits of each snake. Sports who like to witness such contests and do a little betting on the side, are offering odds that the rattlesnake will win the championship, although he might be a little longer in doing it than Dempsey was in snatching the title from Willard.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mullen and son Frederick took advantage of the fine weather last Sunday and motored over the mountain and made a day's visit with relatives in Port Matilda.

Squire John A. Dale and A. H. Irvin, who resides along river street, have beautified their dwelling houses with a bounteous supply of fresh paint, which adds much to the appearance of their homes.

It is reported by people who have been out on the mountains after huckleberries that rattlesnakes are almost as plentiful as the berries, and that several persons have narrowly escaped being bitten. This will likely keep timid folks home, who no doubt would like very much to spend a day or two on the mountains gathering berries.

Acid In Stomach Sours The Food

Says Excess of Hydrochloric Acid is Cause of Indigestion

A well-known authority states that stomach trouble and indigestion are nearly always due to acidity—acid stomach—and not, as most folks believe, from a lack of digestive juices. He states that an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach retards digestion and starts food fermentation, then our meals sour like garbage in a can, forming acid fluids and gases which inflate the stomach like a toy balloon. We then get that heavy, lumpy feeling in the chest, we eructate sour food, belch gas, or have heartburn, flatulence, waterbrash, or nausea. He tells us to lay aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any pharmacy four ounces of Jad Salts and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast while it is effervescent, and furthermore, to continue this for one week. While relief follows the first dose, it is important to neutralize the acidity, remove the gas-making mass, start the liver, stimulate the kidneys and thus promote a free flow of pure digestive juices. Jad Salts is inexpensive and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia and sodium phosphate. This harmless salt is used by thousands of people for stomach trouble with excellent results.

Probably the most remarkable linguist in the world is Albreco Trombetti, a schoolmaster in the Italian town of Cunco. Though entirely self-taught, he is intimately acquainted with no fewer than fifty eight languages and dialects.

MEDICAL MEN TO HONOR DISCOVERER OF ANESTHESIA

BOSTON, Mass., July 15.—The entire medical world, together with eminent representatives of the dental profession will be invited to participate in a celebration of the centennial anniversary of the birth of Dr. William T. G. Morton, which occurs next month. The dental profession is indebted to Dr. Morton for the invention of solder to fasten false teeth to gold plates. But the entire medical world and humanity at large is indebted to him for his discovery and first successful application of ether to cause insensibility to pain.

Dr. Morton was a native of Massachusetts and was descended from Revolutionary stock. At an early age he was compelled to leave school and begin the struggle for self support.
Deciding to take up the dental profession he went to Hartford, Conn., where he studied with Dr. Horace Wells and later became his partner in the practice of dentistry. Later he returned to Boston and took up the study of medicine.

It was just seventy-five years ago today that Dr. Morton first applied hydrochloric ether to the tooth of a patient before applying the instrument used in filling. his experiment resulting in the discovery that ether caused insensibility to pain.

In the same year he matriculated at the Harvard college medical school, and here he made the acquaintance of Dr. Joseph C. Warren, one of the eminent medical men of that day.

Continuing his experiments with the anesthetic Dr. Morton in 1846, shut himself alone in a room, breathe hydro-chloric ether, and was rendered for a time insensible. Learning of the success of the early experiments, Dr. Warren sent for Morton and invited him to administer his preparation to a patient about to undergo an operation. The operation proved painless and successful. The next trial was made November 7, 1846 and was even more notable. On this occasion a patient's leg was amputated without the patient feeling any pain.

Despite the success of these experiments the medical profession discouraged the use of Dr. Morton's preparation as against the code of medical ethics since the nature of the preparation was kept a secret by the discoverer.

To meet the objections of his fellow physicians Dr. Morton made a free gift of the use of his discovery to the Massachusetts General hospital, and in 1848 the trustees presented him with a silver box containing $1,000 and bearing the inscription "He has become poor in a cause which has made the world his debtor."

Despite the fact that Dr. Morton's discovery was one of the most valuable in the entire history of medical science the discoverer failed to reap any adequate financial returns. He was granted patents for his preparation both in the United States and Europe, but he voluntarily surrendered his legal rights for the benefit of humanity. The opposition of certain members of his own profession ruined his medical practice in Boston, and he was finally compelled to apply to Congress for relief. In Congress his claims to the discovery of the anesthetic were opposed by Dr. Wells and others, and the result was that a bill appropriating $100,000 as a national testimonial for his discovery was defeated.

Later his claims were generally recognized both at home and abroad. The French Academy of Sciences awarded him a prize of 2,500 francs for his discovery. Decorations were bestowed upon him by the governments of Sweden and Russia, and the State of Massachusetts placed his name second in the list of fifty-three immortals that adorn the dome of the State House in Boston.

After his retirement from the practice of medicine Dr. Morton engaged in farming at Wellesley, Mass. His death occurred in 1888 while he was visiting in New York City.

ALUMNI OF PENN STATE TO PICNIC AT HERSHEY PARK

The Central Pennsylvania Alumni association of Harrisburg is planning to hold the greatest automobile outing of Penn State men ever held in the State. This outing will be held at Hershey Park located twelve miles east of Harrisburg on Saturday,
August 9, 1919.

Hershey Park is a most ideal place to have such a meeting of Alumni, undergraduates and friends of Penn State. Every opportunity is offered there for a most pleasant and successful day. Swimming pool, bowling alley, pool baseball, dancing, tennis, carrousel, canoeing, boating, zoological garden and a miniature railroad which offers all visitors the opportunity of getting a birds-eye view of all these combined amusements, are some of the things which promise to make this the most successful outing for everyone who finds it possible to meet at this point on that day.

Very good hotel accommodations can be found at Harrisburg and those coming from a distance will have Sunday to return to their homes. It will do all you fellows as well as all other alumni of your country a lot of good to take this day off, and meet with the other alumni and undergraduates of "Penn State". Those who do not provide themselves with lunch can procure same on the grounds.

Immediately after lunch there will be a meeting in the large pavilion where the crowd will be entertained by Hon. H. Walton Mitchell representative of the faculty and of the State government. A good time is assured and it is hoped that all Penn State men as well as friends of that institution will make it a point to attend this outing if possible.

It is the wish of the committee in charge that all Penn State Alumni give this outing as much publicity as possible and urge every one that can to go.
